Why France Is Economically Strong

Trying to ferret out the reason why France, of all the major nations, has the lowest unemployment rate in Europe, Le Monde writes in the World's Work on "Why France is the Top Dog."

All the chimeras of French factories are smoking. Portuguese workers have been imported in droves to supply the shortage of labor. Italians arrive with picks and shovels follow Napoleon's trail over the Alps, in reverse order. Three hundred thousand Poles were given jobs last year. There are no dopes, no Communists, no bread riots.

The findings run something as follows: Frenchmen are born makers. They waste nothing. They know how to stretch French paper to make the two ends meet. Nothing is wasted here.

So does this mean they have poor food. They furnish the chefs of the world. They do not dress shabbily. They dress the world. But they dress themselves first.

They buy for cash. They pay down in full for real estate. Not many know what call money is. Margins are on printed pages only. High-powered securities are an American institution. French cars seldom wear out carrying heavy mortgages.

Employees get good meals at cost. The economists purchase at wholesale prices. Railway employees even get their coal and household supplies for a third what others pay outside of the company. Companies do not exploit or commiserate their help.

The Frenchman hardly knows what a robot is. Almost everything is hand made. A country that is many times smaller than any one of the Western Powers supports its millions by managing its individual affairs well. Thus the underling has become top-dog.

Is there not in the French attitude on this dashed a suggestion of value worthy of the thoughtful consideration of the producers and workers of other countries?

Here in America, in Canada as well as in the United States, every encouragement, indeed the most stirring inducements, are held out to people in all walks of life to buy on the installment plan, rather than for cash. The use of credit has become almost universal, not only for capital expenditures which is justifiable and proper if the borrowings are kept within reason, and the capital expenditures to which they are devoted are of a revenue-producing character, but for current expenses. People are urged to buy not only necessities but luxuries on the credit plan, with payments spread over a term of months or even years.

The argument advanced is frequently that by so doing they are enabling them to pay for their debts, rather than to wait until they have saved sufficiently to pay for their outright. It is a fallacious argument, a fatal mistake to make.

Complaints are fairly general that the banks will not extend credit at the present time. Possibly, however, the mistake by the banks in the past is that they extended too much credit too easily, coupled with the further mistake that they did not charge too high a rate of interest and thus make it next to impossible for the borrower to ever get out of debt once he is landed in that position. Many a man, both city residents and farmers, have had the writer that having got into debt to the banks or mortgage companies they had a long uphill struggle to get out. They found themselves working for these financial corporations to meet interest charges rather than for themselves. They vowed that once they got out of debt, they would never get in again, but rather would do without things until they could pay for their outright, tighten their belt if necessary, and carry on in the meantime.

It is the man who is carrying a load of debt, paying heavy interest charges annually, possibly the argument advanced is frequently that by so doing they are enabling them to pay for their debts, rather than to wait until they have saved sufficiently to pay for their outright. It is a fallacious argument, a fatal mistake to make.

It is a fallacious argument, a fatal mistake to make.

Is the French way not the better way? Does it not make for greater contentment, a more consistent measure of good times, a more enjoyable, happier existence?

End Of Communism

McGill Economist Sees Soviet Despotism Felled By Human Nature

"Russia is going to break, Communism will prove unavailing, the five-year-plan is doomed to failure, the greatest despotism and tyranny that the world has ever seen will be followed by human nature," declared Dr. Stephen Leacock, head of the department of political economy at McGill University, addressing the junior board of trade of Montreal recently.

The professor issued a warning that police batons were not the correct means of destroying Communism in Canada. "The needs of the people which lead them to seek after anything new must, be satisfied as the first and only step required to do away with this evil," he said, referring to Communism in this country.

What was going to happen to Canada and other parts of the western world before Russia's five-year-plan failed, Dr. Leacock asked. "Are we going to sit back and condemn Communism and do nothing to cure the evils of present-day civilization? Are we to permit Russia to set us and the rest of the world an example in energy and determination, the exploitation of their country?"

Military Medal Law Revised

Holders of V.C. Cannot Be Automatically Deprived Of Decoration

Holders of the celebrated Victoria Cross, highest award for gallantry in Britain's army, and not in the future be automatically deprived of the medal if convicted of "treason, murder, manslaughter or other heinous crime," as has been the case in the past.

This important change is one of the new provisions governing military medals announced in the London Gazette. It is stipulated, however, that holders of the V.C. who are convicted of a crime, may also be restored the decoration, if and when the recommendation for amendment is withdrawn.

BREAKS UP GAS IN THE STOMACH

Don't suffer from dangerous gas build-up, indigestion, heartburn, acid, bloating or pain. When ever you need quick stomach relief, take a little Mucilgen. Mucilgen is a powder or tablet. It breaks up gas, soothes the acids and keeps the stomach sweet and strong, and indigestion perfect. All at one drop stroke.

A Dangerous Weapon

Germany is Replacing Her Steel With Paper Cups

Beer mugs always have been dangerous weapons in Germany. But the danger will now be gathered in a break up with the air filled with flying beer mugs. The Berlin police have issued an order that when politicians get together there shall be no steel on the table, but paper cups instead.

This is going to remove a peril of the dramatic from Berlin café gatherings. But it should bring relief to overworked hostesses, which usually have a number of injured to catch up after a Fascist or a Communist meeting. No much of a dent in the human anatomy can be made with a paper cup.

Scotland Boosting Aviation

Dundee, Scotland, recently held an informal justification over the first business transaction carried out there by aeroplane. A business man had flown from Glasgow, landed in a field near Dundee, completed his deal and within an hour was on his way back by air. As a result of the visit, Dundee is joining the movement to provide an airport for every town in Scotland.

The worms that infect children from their birth are of two kinds, those that find lodgment in the stomach and those that are found in the intestines. The latter are the most destructive, as they cling to the interior of the intestines and if not in the worm powder, dislodge both kinds and while expelling them when the system seizes to repair the damage they have caused.

Half and Half

A lady much above the usual size was trying to enter a street car. She began to weep when she was told to get out.

If you were half a man, you'd be on this street car," snarled the fat lady.

The passenger retorted, "Madam, if you were half a lady, you wouldn't need any help."

New Canadian Destroyers

Two New Vessels To Be Added To Canadian Navy

Delivery of the first of Canada's new destroyers, H.M.C.S. Saguenay, will be made to this country very shortly. A number of tests have already been made, but it is expected that a Canadian crew will be put on board the warship soon, and she will form part of the fleet of the naval service of this country.

For the most part the ship's company is already in England. From time to time in the past few months Canadian bluejackets have proceeded to the United Kingdom on courses of instruction in the Royal Navy. Nearly 200 officers and ratings are sent ready to take over the new destroyers as soon as they are delivered from Thyrostroffs.

The second vessel, H.M.C.S. Skeena, will be turned over about May 20. The new destroyers are the last word in construction of that type of vessel, incorporating many new features that have been developed since the war. Specifications called for a speed of 33 knots, but in her trials the Saguenay has exceeded this.

First-aid and home nursing useful subjects have been included in the curriculum. The ship's company is equipped with turbine engines. Their armament comprises four 4.7 guns and two 4.16 torpedoes. About 100 men and ratings constitute the ship's companies.

California Protests Its Fruit Industry

May Prohibit Bananas Imports So People Will Buy Home Grown Fruit

The State Legislature of California is seriously considering the prohibition of the import of bananas. Why? Not because the banana is grown in California and so the import of the foreign-grown banana would interfere with the home-grown product. The argument for prohibiting the importation of bananas is in the fact that the prohibition of the import of bananas as the protectors of California see it, means less fruit of peaches and other fruit grown here. So the state of California has to curb their sinful appetites when it comes to their favorite fruit. The state has the all the easier for them to do this there are to be no more bananas in California if the legislators of California are to have their way.—Lehighville Herald

Big Business In Farm Machinery

Nearly 100,000 Tractors Sold In Western Canada In Past Twelve Years

Nearly 100,000 tractors have been sold in Western Canada in the past twelve years, and of this total, more than half went to farmers in Saskatchewan, according to the latest estimates. In three years more than 3,000 tractors have been sold in Saskatchewan, half the total for all the Western Canadas. In the past five years, Saskatchewan farmers have purchased 6,000 combines and the total for the West in that period was 9,000. Out of the 2,946 tractors sold in the west in 1929, 826 were bought in Saskatchewan.

Proposes New Study For Canadian Schools

First-Aid and Home Nursing Useful Subjects, Says Colonel Hodgson

First-aid and home nursing should be made subjects in public schools, declared Col. A. A. Hodgson, director of the St. Anne's Hospital Association, at the annual meeting of the organization in Ottawa. This type of training would, he said, be more useful than "some of the twaddle" now being taught.

The year 1930 was described as surpassing all other years in the history of the association. In the various courses, 23,398 persons took part and proficiency certificates were awarded to 12,850 persons. Certificates and awards had a grand total of 19,748. The annual report was presented by Hon. J. H. King, president.

Giant X-Ray Tube

Will Be Used In The Treatment Of Cancer Patients

A giant X-ray tube, developing 600,000 volts, has been developed at the California Institute of Technology for treating patients suffering from cancer, a formal statement issued by the institute announced.

The statement said that "As Dr. Robert A. Millikan has previously stated, the institute does not profess to have discovered a new cure for cancer; the principal hope is, that if results are favorable, other tubes of similar type will be placed in operation in hospitals in other sections of the United States."

DIVERGENT VIEWS EXPRESSED COMMONS DEBATE

Ottawa, Ont.—Political leaders in Quebec Federal politics swung into action in the House of Commons today. The continued debate on the address in reply to the speech from the Throne, Hon. Arthur Saupe, postmaster-general, and Hon. Ernest Lapointe, former minister of justice, expressed divergent views.

Mr. Saupe spoke first. It was his initial speech in the House of Commons, and his reception, especially when he spoke at some length in English, was hearty. He defended the government, reviewed what had been said to aid the unemployed and assisted the farmer, and asked for co-operation of all parties to make the coming economic conference a success. He also remarked that, in denouncing the action of the government, the opposition was actually denouncing the Quebec government.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe, veteran of 24 years in parliament, found in the last Imperial Conference, ample reason for criticism of the government. Mr. Lapointe, who has himself represented Canada at Imperial Conferences, censured Premier R. B. Bennett for the mercenary spirit which he claimed had animated him in his negotiations.

"The British Commonwealth is an idea, it is a post mortem," Mr. Lapointe said. "To base it on a mercenary foundation is to court disaster. The tie of sentiment is thin, but it is strong. It may be weak, it may be invisible to those who cannot see anything outside a helter, but this tie has proven equal to the test and it has always been put in periods of trouble and difficulty."

Mr. Lapointe had criticism for Mr. Bennett in the grounds of interference in British domestic policy.

To force protection upon Britain, as the prime minister of Canada tried to do, was not only lacking the Empire on an economic failure, but it was interfering in the most direct way with the domestic policy of the United Kingdom," declared the former minister of justice.

Miss Agnes MacPhail, Progressive member for Southeast Gray, and the only woman member of the House of Commons, followed Mr. Lapointe.

In his speech, Mr. Bennett had made direct reference to Miss MacPhail. He said that the arguments advanced by her in speeches had "been of such a subtle character as to induce me to excuse her for the provision she has taken toward resistance by the province of Quebec to the granting of the franchise to women."

"In fact," added Mr. Saupe, "I am coming more and more to the acceptance of the idea of the granting of this franchise."

Bill For Oil

Winnipeg, Man.—It is understood here that an oil company, name unknown, will expend $250,000 in testing property in the town of St. Boniface, adjacent to Winnipeg, to ascertain if oil exists in the district. It was reported that a 60-day option has been let by the St. Boniface council on a block of 14 acres at a price of $2,000 an acre.

No Change in Construction Program

Prince Albert, Sask.—There will be no change in the $3,000,000 construction plans of the Canadian Pacific Railway in northern Saskatchewan, it was emphatically declared here by D. C. Coleman, vice-president of the line, Canadian Pacific Railway.

Wolves Terrorize Settlers

Disorders in India

Campore Troops Shot Down 30 Rioting Nationalists

Karachi, India.—Tumult broke out again in the Mahatma Gandhi, here for the National Congress meeting, was jeered by Communists, and troops at Campore shot down at least 30 rioting Nationalists.

The disorders grew out of the execution last week of three Indians convicted of the murder of a 31-year-old police official in 1928. Gandhi has taken on a train 12 miles outside of the town, but the thousands gathered here for the congress meeting pelted him as he rode into town in an automobile.

A group of 30 or more, known to be of Communist leaning, made for him with jeers and one even made as though to attack the frail little man with a flag staff. Some carried a tray with a gruesome mess of mud and blood.

"Here is the blood of our brothers who were murdered," they cried, referring to the three executed Indians. "Take it back with your true to Delhi."

Gandhi's men drove off the assailants, and there were cheers for the Mahatma.

The day at Campore was even more serious. Rioting began during the night when Moslem shopkeepers refused to close their stores under a general strike called by the congress men. Troops came out when the fighting got serious, and before the worst was over, 50 had been killed and at least 150 injured.

This trouble too, grew out of the elections.

Must Serve Sentence

Sixteen-Year Old Farm Boy Falls In Appeal To Higher Court

Toronto, Ont.—Robert Kitewski, 16-year-old farm boy, must serve his sentence of five years at the Stony Mountain penitentiary and receive 20 lashes as imposed by Magistrate Cruikshank for the holding-up and robbing of the Dominion Bank at Port Frances, on February 11 last. This was the decision of the First Appellate Court of Ontario, at Oshawa, Ont.

Following an earnest plea for "a more humane punishment" from A. A. Macdonald, counsel for the young prisoner, youthfulness of the prisoner which brought forth a "popular clamor" following the sentence, did not appear to the most distinguished court of appeal in the province, who declared in announcing their judgment.

To Dispose Of Wheat

Senator Meak Would Donate Surplus Wheat In United States To China

Washington, D.C.—Old suggestion that the surplus wheat held by the National Grain Stabilization Corporation, amounting to over 200,000,000 bushels, should be turned over to China, was made by Senator William E. Borah.

Such action would require an act of congress. Wheat held by the corporation has been bought and paid for, and the policy of the Farm Board is that it shall not be given away. Borah's idea was that a gift of the wheat to China would create an appetite for wheat bread among the 400,000,000 Chinese which would result in largely increasing the market for wheat in that country.

Went To Do Farmers

Toronto, Ont.—The well-to-do middle class farmer had by no means disappeared. Hon. Duncan Marshall, former Minister of Agriculture in Alberta, told a meeting of advertisers and businessmen here when discussing farming conditions in western Canada. He believed that present difficulties would be overcome by the farmers. Generous loans to farmers by bankers at low rates of interest were a necessity, however, he said.

Followed News Cavel

Brussels, Belgium.—It was belatedly learned here that Miss Anne Scott-Jones, 56, who gained fame as a nurse in the Great War, died March 21, Miss Scott-Jones assumed the mantle of the nurse, Edith Cavell, shot as a spy by the Germans during the war. Following Miss Cavell's execution, she assisted Allied soldiers to cross the Dutch frontier.

Will Entertain Governor-General

Ottawa, Ont.—Canada's new governor-general, the Earl of Beasborough, will be the guest of honor on April 8, at a dinner tendered by Premier R. B. Bennett. Members of the government, the leader of the opposition, and members of the privy council will attend the function.

Man Without a Country

Department Of Immigration Decides To Admit Radomski To Canada

Ottawa, Ont.—John Radomski, referred to as a man without a country, will be admitted to Canada. The Department of Immigration has decided. When he was stopped at the Detroit-Windsor border some weeks ago, his case excited considerable public comment because, not only did the United States refuse him entry, but so did Canada. The order permitting him to enter this country went forward recently.

Radomski came to Canada in 1914. In 1923 he went to United States where he married an American woman. They had two children, whom, after his wife's death, Radomski sent to Canada to the home of his parents. It was when he sought to follow them to this country that he was stopped by immigration authorities.

SIR JOSIAH STAMP APPOINTED HEAD OF GRAIN INQUIRY

Ottawa, Ont.—One of Britain's leading economists, Sir Josiah Stamp, was recently named as head of the royal commission to inquire into grain trading in Canada. Premier R. B. Bennett told members of the House of Commons that Sir Josiah will sail this week for Canada.

It was known that the British economist had been invited to represent the Dominion Government, but the recent announcement carried the first intimation that he had accepted the post. The royal commission is to consist of three members, one of whom will represent the Grain Exchange and another is to be chosen by the prairie provinces to represent the farmers.

Rumors have associated the name of Premier J. E. Brownlie with the position of grain governor representative, but Mr. Brownlie has denied that he would accept the post. Sir Josiah Stamp has for many years been regarded as an outstanding expert in financial matters. He has had a distinguished academic career and has frequently represented the British Government on financial commissions. In 1919 he was member of the British committee on income tax. In 1924 he was member of the committee on tax and national debt, and in the same year was British representative on the Dawes reparations commission.

His name has been selected as accomplishing economic co-ordination of British railways.

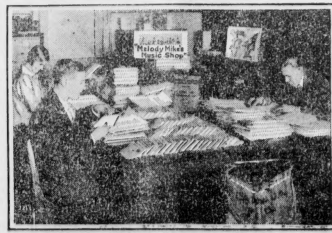

Appointment of the royal commission has followed expressions of opinion in Western Canada that trading in grain futures in the United States is to the best interests of the producers.

Present indications are that work of the commission will be confined to an investigation of this subject, although it appears possible the scope of the inquiry may be extended to include whole questions of marketing of the wheat crop.

Less Unemployed

London, England.—The number of unemployed persons in Great Britain on March 16, was announced by the government recently, as 2,638,003, a decrease of 52,104 under the previous figure. The total figure is 1,017,875, more than at the same time last year.

MELBOY MIKE FAN MAIL

From the far northern prairie, from city, town, village, isolated farm house, right across the Dominion from Halifax to Victoria, letters are pouring into Canadian Pacific Railway radio office, at Montreal, from admirers of the genial old fellow who sends out his message of goodwill and kindliness every Monday night. In one day in March, no less than 1,361 such letters were received and from 15,000 in a month, the figure has risen to close on 40,000. Photograph shows a portion of the radio department staff dealing with this huge fan mail as it comes in each day. The Melboy Mike feature is declared by comment judges to be one of the most popular radio offerings on the continent.

Express Train Leaves Track

Winnipeg, Man.—Swift travelling Canadian Pacific Railway passenger train No. 3, westbound, hit a broken rail near Swift Current, Sask., and five cars, including four sleepers, plunged from the rails, down a 15-foot embankment.

There was one fatality—a 67-year-old Cleveland man, Manning F. Fisher, who with his family was en route to Vancouver from where he was to have sailed for China on a holiday. His death was attributed to shock. He died shortly after the derailment.

His wife and a 23-year-old son escaped injury.

Thirteen other passengers occupied spaces of sleepers and two members of the dining car staff, were cut and bruised when thrown from their berths. All escaped serious injury.

Regina Winter Fair

Three Grand Champion and Reserve Champion Stallions Are Named

Regina, Sask.—Three grand champion stallions were named at the Regina Winter Fair. These were: Clydesdale "Leuchter" owned by John Falconer, of Govan, Sask.; Percherons, "Colman," owned by C. M. Rear, of Regina, Sask.; Belgians, "Goliath," owned by C. M. Rear.

The reserve championship in Clydesdale stallions went to H. Black, of Belle Plaine, with "Cardo Footprint"; in Percherons, to C. M. Rear, with "Hatty River Charles"; and in Belgians, to R. Thomas, of Grande, with "Paragon Bill."

R. Thomas was adjudged to have the best gelding in the show with "Leuchter," owned by Percheron, owned by H. Black.

May Increase Postal Rates On Newspapers

To Help Lower Deficit Of Post Office Department

Ottawa, Ont.—Voicing a protest against the projected increase of postal charges on second class mail matter, a meeting of over 20 members of the Canadian National Newspapers and Periodicals Association conferred here with Hon. Arthur Saupe, postmaster-general.

The government has had before it for some time the proposal to increase the mail rates on second class mail matter, under which category are included newspapers and periodicals. For the current fiscal year the deficit of the post office department will likely range between five and six million dollars, and the proposal to raise the rate on newspapers has been advanced in an effort to overcome some of that deficit.

Would Repeal Dry Law

Illinois Senate Passes Bill Repealing Prohibition Enforcement

Springfield, Ill.—The Illinois Senate recently passed the bill repealing the state's prohibition enforcement laws. The measure, already passed by the House, now goes to the governor. The bill was 26 to 24.

The bill would repeal the state prohibition law under the Seavey act. Seizure Act. In effect, it would withdraw all state support from the Federal government in fighting illicit manufacture and traffic in intoxicating liquor.

MANITOBA POOL ELEVATOR PROBE IS UNDER WAY

Winnipeg, Man.—Surrounded by prominent counsel, including T. J. Murray, K.C., authority on the legal aspects of co-operative marketing, E. Williams, K.C., commenced a royal commission investigation into the operations of the Manitoba Pool Elevators.

Procedure to be adopted in presentation of evidence has been settled. Commissioners will be permitted to examine evidence which will present evidence, and in special cases, evidence of company officers in explanation of financial records submitted.

It had been the intention of Mr. Murray and his associate counsel, Travers Westwood, K.C., to present oral testimony on each document submitted, but this was objected to by A. B. Hudson, K.C., representing the Manitoba Pool Elevators. Winnipeg grain authority, whose charges made to Premier John Bracken brought about the formation of the commission.

Under the compromise ruling, agreed to by all counsel, the Pool elevator will file documents, and opposing counsel will be permitted immediate cross-examination of witnesses. The same ruling will apply to witnesses for Mr. Murray testimony on the filing of documentary evidence.

Mr. Murray, who charged extravagance in the operation of pool elevators, and under-grading to the detriment of the farmer shareholders, was in attendance at the session.

In the country there are 11,000 farmer shareholders, representing 300,000 elevators, who are vitally interested in the probe, which is expected to last at least three weeks.

Both sides made clear that "a complete picture" of the pool elevators operations must be presented. Mr. Murray, senior counsel for the pool, feared it was the intention of Mr. Hudson to call officers and employees of the elevators only to substantiate the charges, and not to bring out the complete facts relevant to the whole case.

A wrong impression might be created with the examination of only one document or witness, said Mr. Murray. Incomplete examination might at least cause suspicion, and with keen rivalry existing between the pool and non-pool elevator agents, lead to the circulation of propaganda calculated to break the confidence of shareholders.

Counties of shareholders in the life blood of the Pool Elevators, Limited," he said. "It must be maintained."

Counties of shareholders with Mr. Hudson, declared it was not intended to create any unnecessary distrust in the minds of shareholders. Everything must be presented in detail, not summaries, and not piecemeal.

MARKET BOARD FOR WHEAT IS RECOMMENDED

Winnipeg, Man.—Establishment of a permanent Canadian marketing agency was urged in the Manitoba legislature by Hon. R. A. Hoey, minister of education. Answering criticism of wheat pool operations, Mr. Hoey contended that a permanent marketing board would have a vital and direct relationship to the recovery of agriculture in the west.

He also proposed, in speaking on the second reading debate on ratification of government pool loan guarantees that quality production should be insisted on and that products should be standardized from coast to coast.

Cash payment to the banks for the government's guarantee of the Manitoba Wheat Pool's indebtedness was urged by W. Sanford Evans (Ind. Can.) Winnipeg. He advised the government to float a $300,000 bond issue and pay the banks in cash rather than to seek to carry the overdraft over a period of years.

Under such a plan, believed Mr. Evans, the pools would get a new start and would profit by their lessons of the past, after the policy of speculation in futures, which he contended, had been the poor result. Most severe threat to the wheat market, at present, he commented, lay in the grave loss incurred from the United States following the farm board's decision to end its stabilization policy.

Mr. Hoey, minister of education, replied spiritedly to Mr. Evans' statements, reviewing the formation of the pool and the financial losses of R. Bennett as saying, at Regina, that the pools had followed the wheat market, at present, he commented, lay in the grave loss incurred from the United States following the farm board's decision to end its stabilization policy.

Tourist Traffic Slightly Less

But Figures For 1934 Place Value At $29,000,000

Ottawa, Ont.—Despite falling out from 1929 tourist traffic still remains high. Figures for 1934 estimate that the total value of tourist traffic in Canada for the year 1934 was $29,000,000, according to the Bureau of Statistics, place the value of tourist traffic at $29,000,000. This substantial figure, in the face of far-reaching economic depression, was only $28,000,000 less than 1929.

Automobile tourists from the United States increased in numbers, but apparently did not spend as much money in Canada. The Bureau of Statistics placed the value of tourist traffic at $29,000,000. This substantial figure, in the face of far-reaching economic depression, was only $28,000,000 less than 1929.

Temperance Forces Defeated

London, England.—Ratified after their recent defeat in attempting to introduce prohibition into Great Britain by act of Parliament, the temperance forces sought to curtail liquor advertising which Bares over towns and country throughout the empire, but the House of Commons rejected the move by a vote of 127 to 112.

No Aid For Germany

Prairie Provinces May Obtain Deep Sea Fish Requirements From Hudson Bay Region

Western Canada's hope for a steady supply of fresh fish from Hudson Bay and Strait need not be dashed by the discouraging report of a state fishery year by the traveler expedition which spent the summer in the bay.

This expedition caught no fish, but in the fisheries department at Ottawa this fact is not regarded as a knock-out blow to the project of a fishing industry in the northern waters. On the contrary, H. H. Edgar, N. Rhodes, the Minister of Fisheries, says he will be much surprised if in due course Hudson Bay and Strait do not give the west a steady supply not only of river fish but of deep sea fish.

Mr. Rhodes is a Nova Scotia, has been immersed in the politics of that province most of his life, and has had charge of the Dominion fisheries only since August last. Therefore he admits a lack of detail knowledge about the fish resources of Hudson Bay and Strait. He knows, however, that the estuaries and rivers running into the bay contain plenty of edible varieties and expects that a supply of deep sea fish will be available from the Strait. Last summer's expedition did not touch the rivers or the strait.

Discussing western fisheries, Mr. Rhodes noted that the transfer of the natural resources had taken the lake fisheries of the prairie outside the jurisdiction of his department. Fish in the prairie lakes and streams will henceforth be taken and sold under the auspices of provincial authorities. The Dominion department is ready to give aid in solving the technical and selling problems of the lake fishermen, but its primary concern now is with the coasts. There have been only two coast surveys till lately, the Atlantic and the Pacific, but the completion of the Hudson Bay Railway brings a third into the picture.

No country has a more difficult fisheries problem than Canada, thinks Mr. Rhodes. A great majority of Canadians live more than 1,000 miles from the ocean. They eat much less fish per head than do British people, and Mr. Rhodes believes they ought to have more fish dinners to balance their diet properly. The problem is to get the fish to them while fresh. Mr. Rhodes hopes to see Hudson Bay and Strait fisheries play some part in solving this difficulty in the Canadian middle west.

In Planting Grass Proper Preparation of the Soil Is Essential To Success

The fine seeds of grasses and legumes require a firm soil that is fine in texture, and moist. They are very small in size and if sowed too deeply will produce plants which either lack vigour when they emerge above the ground or are completely smothered. The soil should be so deep that the seed will not be buried too deeply and so that moisture will be near the surface to facilitate the germination of the small seeds before the nurse crop becomes sufficiently well established to smother the small seedlings.

—Experimental Farms Note.

Feed To A Finish. Farmers who are feeding cattle for beef should note carefully the following excerpt from the Live Stock Market Report of the Dominion Department of Agriculture: "Shippers are bringing in considerable numbers of half-fat cattle. The market has enough depressing factors to contend with, and shippers are requested, in their own interest, not to sacrifice half-finished stock, but thereby adversely affect the market as a whole. Feed your beef cattle to a finish and get all the market has to offer."

The Average Age Men Usually Marry At Twenty-Five Or Younger

Queen's University Journal reports a professor as saying that the average man of today does not marry until he is 30 or 35, as he is seldom financially secure before then. The report may be inaccurate, but the statement, as reported, is one frequently made and perhaps widely believed. Yet it is quite unwarranted.

Out of 25,728 women who married in Ontario, in 1925, those who had reached 30 years or more numbered only 7,570, or about 30 per cent. of the total. And of these only 3,823, or about 15 per cent. of the total, were in the age-group 30-35 inclusive. More than 50 per cent. of the women were under 27 years of age, and if second marriages were eliminated from the total, it would probably be found that half of the men who marry for the first time do so before they have passed 25.

The "average man" who waits until he is 30 or 35 is not an average, but an exception.

FAVORITE BECAUSE OF ITS YOUTHFULNESS

This peplum model is especially nice in printed crepe silk for street wearing.

The shoulder capelet adds much charm and daintiness. And into the bargain the sleeves may be omitted because the cape covers the upper part of the arms for more formal wear or for sport.

The skirt is slightly flared and shows a flat slash through the hips.

Style No. 206 may be had in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 30, 35 and 40 inches bust.

Plain flat crepe silk, crepe woaden in plain or print, may rayon novel, velvet, chamois, linen, shantung and chiffon are lovely for this model.

During the season of prettiest styles, will soon be here. Prepare now by ordering a copy of the Fashion Magazine. Attractive styles for women, misses and children. And instructive lessons in sewing.

Price of book 15 cents. Price of pattern 20 cents in stamps or coin (note is preferred). Wrap coil carefully.

Help Make Canada Beautiful

Everyone Can Do Their Part By Beautifying Home Grounds.

"Beautify your home grounds and help make Canada more beautiful" is the slogan which has been adopted for a campaign to develop personal interest in ornamental horticulture throughout the Dominion. Taking the initiative in the campaign the Canadian Horticultural Council, with the co-operation of the Federal Department of Agriculture through its experimental farms branch, has had a booklet dealing with every phase of "Beautifying the Home Grounds" prepared by a landscape architect of outstanding ability. This is essentially a practical text book on the subject, and not only provides plans and illustrations especially suited to Canadian conditions, but complete glossary of plants, shrubs, trees and ornamentals of Canadian origin particularly adapted for Canadian usage. A fee of twenty-five cents is charged for this book, which is being distributed through the publication branch of the Department of Agriculture, at Ottawa.

Marketing Of Cattle

Central Council With Representatives From Each Of Prairie Provinces To Form

Decision to form a central council of two representatives from each prairie province to assist in handling and marketing cattle, was made by the directors of the Western Stock-Growers Association and representatives of the British Columbia Beef-Growers and the Saskatchewan Stock-Growers Association at a recent meeting in Calgary. Several lines of activity, including the compiling of accurate statistics regarding potential marketings and exploration of existing and new avenues of outlet, were suggested as work of the newly-formed council.

Bermuda Stands Out

The upper legislative council of Bermuda has rejected the measure which the lower council had passed, permitting physicians on the island to use automobiles while calling on patients. So the old remains. The island, which has always been free of the modern automobile, will keep its freedom. And somehow we are glad. It is good to think that somewhere in the world is a place where horses are not, and motor horns never rack our nerves.

Holding Doesn't Pay

Farmers Urged To Market Eggs In Very Best Condition

Holding eggs for a "rise in the market" doesn't pay, as a recent report from federal inspectors at Winnipeg clearly shows. It reads: "The majority of receipts are of good quality, although some held eggs are in evidence. These invariably grade seconds, showing the fatality of holding perishable products for any length of time in anticipation of a higher market. At the time this report was received the spread of extra over seconds was five cents per dozen. The Egg Marketing Service of the Dominion Department of Agriculture urges farmers to market their eggs in the very best of condition, which naturally is as soon after laying as possible, so that they will get the benefit of official grading."

Coal Consumption In Canada Has Decreased And Drop Attributed To Increased Use Of Electricity

Coal Consumption In Canada Has Decreased And Drop Attributed To Increased Use Of Electricity

Coal consumption in Canada has decreased approximately three and a half million tons in the past year.

Statistics now available show the quantity of coal made available for consumption in Canada, in 1926, was 31,865,980 tons, the preceding year.

This decrease is due to several causes, one of which is the increasing use of electricity as a medium of power for operating factories, sawmills, mills, saw mills, etc., and in the increased usage of water power instead of electricity. Of the total power used in manufacturing industries in 1926, it is estimated 72 per cent. was electricity. In 1925 and 1926, this percentage is expected to have been greater.

It is estimated electric power has displaced the consumption of coal in Canada to the extent of 14,500,000 kilowatt hours in 1926, which places the equivalent of coal to electricity at 150 pounds of coal per k.w.h.

Of the total electrical output, last year showed a decrease, of about one per cent. of central electric generating stations has increased from 18,014 million kilowatt hours in 1925 to 18,326 million in 1926. The large stations generating approximately 85 per cent. of the total electrical output, generated only 902 million kilowatt hours by steam power in 1926 as compared with 531 millions in the preceding year.

Statistics issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics of Canada disclose that the trend of coal has continued downward trend in wholesale and retail prices, a definite upward movement in the prices of industrial and public utility common stocks, as well as mining stocks, and no changes in the index number of industrial prices calculated on the yields of the most popular bonds.

A Number Of Summer Houses To Be Built This Year At Northern

Resort

Construction in Prince Albert Park will be abnormally heavy this year, judging from present indications. A Saskatoon citizen, whose name has not been disclosed, intends to erect a new, park residential subdivision. Nine others intend to erect cottages, the average cost to be $3,000.

What the program of park development work for the summer will be depends entirely upon what money will be available in the department's interior appropriations. No definite information in this regard is yet available.

Safeguard For Waiters

New Invention Causes Door To Open Without Trouble

A door which opens of its own accord based on the "invisible" ray principle, has just been put into operation at "Oxford." About 100 feet from one of the service doors on the first floor a light has been made to shine on a photo-electric cell suspended opposite, and when a waitress approaches this door she breaks across the line of light and presses it for a moment. This gives impulse to an amplifier on the other side of the service door, and this impulse operates on a delicate electrical apparatus in such a way as to cause the door to open automatically. The door of the door to draw back, and the door opens.

Not So Comfortable

The lady was visiting the poor of her district, and in one of the cottages lived poor old Mrs. Murphy, a widow. After several unsuccessful attempts to make conversation the lady asked: "Was your husband in comfortable circumstances when he died?"

"No, mum," replied Mrs. Murphy, "he was 'all way under a train.'"

WHEN CHILDREN FRET

THERE are times when a child is too fretful or feverish to be snug to sleep. There are some pains a mother cannot put away. But there's quick comfort in Caloria!

For diarrhea, and other infantile ills give this pure vegetable preparation. Whenever cramps, tummy-ache, flatulence, or constipation; whenever there's any sign of sluggishness, Caloria has a good taste; children love to take it. Try the genuine—with Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on wrapper.

She stooped, notwithstanding, dropping a kiss on Martin's forehead, and then said: "Thank you," said Mr. Halliday, wearily. "Thank you for that, and—everything."

Then he, too, stooped above the child. "I'm going to leave you here to play with Nick and Sonny, little girl. I'll come back soon."

She lifted a tear-stained face and would have clung but that not Gay called her attention to the tower the boys were building.

"I'll show you how, little Martha," said Sonny with importance. "I'll make a house much bigger than for you to live in."

"Go now," Gay whispered, seeing that the child was occupied, and Halliday turned away.

He went straight to Angela's room. She stood waiting where he had left her, and, closing the door, he faced her sternly.

"Angela," he began, "there are guests in the house, and I cannot say what I would say otherwise. There must be no scene; but once before I warned you to curb your temper. Do you remember why?"

She shrunk from him, but he fol-

Before Her Baby Came

"I have used several bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and find it helps me wonderfully, especially before childbirth. I have five lovely children. After my last baby came I had a miserable pain in my right side so I bought another bottle of the Compound and feel fine now. I work outside during the fruit season in addition to my housework."—Mrs. Charles Slingerland, R.R. #4, St. Catharines, Ontario.

lowed her relentlessly, and though she tried to look away the cold gleam of his grey eyes held her own while one might have counted ten. Then through the open window was wafted the sound of childish laughter—the tension of those clashing glances broke, and the woman regained her poise.

"Aren't you a trifle melodramatic, my dear husband?" she asked, shrugging. "After all, it was only a cat." Halliday turned.

"Next time it may be a child," he replied sternly, and left the room.

CHAPTER XIV.

Angela's guests stayed but a short time, though, little Martha once disposed of, James Halliday tried his utmost to be agreeable, and make them forget the awkward moment of their arrival. He even suggested a small dinner to which their next door neighbors were invited, and at which Gay appeared in a charming sea-green gown that caused her hostess to stare almost rudely in surprise.

Angela thought she had taken Gay's measure when she described her as "that dusty little thing next door." Now, watching Halliday's interested face as he talked with their surprisingly unprepared guest, she wondered if by any chance she had been mistaken. Since the days of her own courtship she had never seen her husband treat a woman just that way.

The slight piqued her—not because she had any romantic feeling left for the govt.,—but because she thought him incapable of being so interested. There might come a time, she thought vindictively, when the knowledge that interest would be a deadly weapon in her own hand. The thought brightened her eyes, making them even more blue and luminous than before. Her husband saw it, and wondered wearily, what new trouble was brewing for Angela; yet later, when the cost of the dimly lighted living-room, Angela sat, her voice might have been part of some celestial choir.

"How gloriously that woman sang!" said Nick, when he and Gay made their way home together across the garden. "It seems to me to have everything, and everything, and give herself up to the expression of her real self. It's as if it were all her own—music, and words, and her love, giving them life. I felt like a fool when she made me try that duet with my dear ones."

"You needn't have. Your voice isn't trained like hers, but at least it's sincere."

"Sincere? What do you mean?"

"You wouldn't understand if I told you."

"Why not? Am I really no more than that?"

"Not in everything, Nick."

"Thanks," Nick laughed, and as they reached the porch, not down in the hammock and drew her down beside him. "Let's stay here a while and talk the matter through. I don't like those aspersions on my mortality."

Why should my singing be more sincere than hers, nonpareil? I don't like those aspersions on my mortality."

Gay was thoughtful for a moment before she answered: "I can't help feeling that she's playing a part. I can't remember I don't care for her friends."

"They're not exactly our sort—a bit blasé and world-weary perhaps, though the woman had one lucid interval when she told me about her little girl. They must be home to drink. He may be a cynic, but he has brains in his head. Still, I think you're unjust to the fair Angela. I bet those things little told you have stuck in your crop, Gay. I think you've made an impression on Halliday! He acted tremendously interested in you tonight!"

"What an idiotic thing to say!" "If you're not careful, Madam," Nick retorted, "I shall sue you for slander. That's the second insult you've handed me in five minutes. Besides, he's had been the idiot one if he hadn't noticed you. You had those other women looking like tinsels in a jewelry shop."

A sudden smile lighted Gay's eyes. She said: "That's what I meant about the difference in your voice and Mrs. Halliday's."

"I don't quite get you."

"I said you wouldn't, didn't I?"

Nick grinned.

"I believe you set that trap for me, my dear. But you'll have to admit that her voice is beautiful."

"Oh, I do! But unless there's a logical soul behind it—"

He hesitated, flushed and added: "That may sound foolish, but—"

Gay paused again, and her husband with a tender smile for her fair face: "Are you implying then, that my soul is superior to my neighbor's?"

"I answered Gay seriously. "I am. Oh, Nick, I know you'd think me silly, but I do wish you'd be care-

INDIGESTION

Banished by Kruschen

"I suffered for some years from a bad stomach. I used to feel very miserable after meals. The doctor advised me to take Kruschen, but I did not do so. I decided to try Kruschen and am now taking it. I have done for the last 12 months, and I am very glad to tell you that my stomach is now in perfect order. I feel as young in spirit as I was 20 years ago."

You know how badly an engine runs when it gets clogged up. It's the same with your body when your digestive organs are clogged up. What you need is a tonic—Nature's own tonic—Nature's six mineral salts.

You get all these six salts in Kruschen. The first effect of these salts is to promote the flow of the saliva and to awaken the appetite. The next action occurs in the stomach, where the digestive juices are encouraged to pour out and get on their work. These vital salts promote a further flow of these vital juices and lead with purity to the blood. It is finally for absorption into the system.

Claim Is Disputed

Gray's Easy Not Written At Stokes Pages Is Belief

The churchyard of Stokes Poles, in Buckinghamshire, England, is generally supposed to have been the scene where inspired Gray's famous "Elegy," but the claim was disputed last year in a book published by the Chardon Press, and written by Mr. Francis Stokes, who held that Thamesington, about a mile from Canterbury Cathedral, in Kent, England, was the spot from which Gray's famous "Elegy," but the claim was disputed last year in a book published by the Chardon Press, and written by Mr. Francis Stokes, who held that

La Grippe and "Flu" are Spreading

"Flu" First Appears as a Sore Throat, but Gains Tremendous Headway in Six Hours

AN EFFECTIVE TREATMENT DESCRIBED

Nearly every case of "Flu" starts with a simple cold. At first the throat is sore—often just a little hoarse—soon the infection goes lower—then the chest is affected. A safe plan is to gargle the throat three times daily with "Nerviline"—this will keep the throat free from germs. If there is any sign of tightness in the chest, rub on Nerviline—every drop penetrates deeply—excretion will be relieved—the cold will break up quickly. Many a dangerous case of "Flu" can be avoided by this simple home treatment.

Experienced mothers know how valuable Nerviline is for Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, and the little ailments that arise in every family. Nerviline in most homes is called "Mother's Best Friend." 35c at all dealers.

Cruise Around the World

Itinerary of Cunard Line "Franconia" Is Announced

The tentative itinerary for the Cunard Line "Franconia" cruise around the world in 1932, has just been made public in a statement by Arthur Handley, general passenger traffic manager of the Cunard Line in Canada, reveals a list of ports of call of striking diversity and attractiveness from the world cruise standpoint.

The fact that the "Franconia" is large enough for comfort at sea and yet not too large to enter most of the smaller harbours of the world opens a great many ports for her passengers which they would not be able to see were she larger. At the principal ports the "Franconia" is able to tie up to the docks, obviating the necessity of long and tedious rides in tenders from ship to shore.

Perhaps the most important new feature of the new year's cruise of the "Franconia" around the world will be the added port of call at Halifax, with more than three days allowed for her passengers to see the many historic and sacred places in Palestine. The call at Haifa will again be an included feature of the "Franconia" cruise, with stops at both Building and Teluk Padang planned for the 1932 cruise.

Other outstanding features of the "Franconia" cruise will be calls at Athens, Cap St. Jacques (for visits to

Beautiful Ontario Summer Camps Call

Unrivaled for its scenic splendor, the beauty of its lakes and streams and their world-wide reputation as fishing grounds, Ontario offers the holiday-maker as fine a territory as any to be found on the American Continent. Bungalow-camps bring practically virgin areas within easy reach of the disciples of Isaac Walton, with handy connections from Toronto and other points by Canadian Pacific Railway lines. These camps are a combination of the lure of the wilderness with the comforts of civilization, and consist of individual "camps" or sleeping-cottages, centered on a dining and recreation hall. Modern furniture and convenience predominate, and thus the individual or family seeking a country vacation find golf, tennis, fishing, swimming, sailing, canoeing, motor-boating and dancing for their amusement, apart from a wide variety of fishing, which may be carried out either in the vicinity of the camp themselves, or back in the hinterland, with competent guides, who also act as servants. On the main trans-continental line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, three such camps are found in the Province of Ontario. At French River, 100 miles north of Toronto, within a stone's throw of the railway station, there is a well-found camp, which offers an excellent and great northern place to the fisherman. At Nipigon, 225-hours run from Toronto, trout, pike and pickerel are the principal offerings and at the Devil's Gap, Kenora, Lake of the Woods, Ontario, 125 miles east of Winnipeg, the famous Canadian black bass offers sport such as anglers dream of, but rarely get. All these camps combine the excellent features already referred to and are visited by fishermen, tourists and holidaying families from all quarters of the globe, each summer. They have a thoroughly enjoyable and thrilling holiday time and return part of a great chain of such installations operated in connection with the railway, for the purpose of taking people "back to nature" and yet giving them the same standards of accommodation and service as are found elsewhere throughout its system. The pictures show: (1) A scene at the Devil's Gap Bungalow Camp. (2) A typical fishing great northern pike. (3) Home-coming at French River. (4) One for the train-crew, from a fair angle at Nipigon.
